5 Next Stage Arts Project and Twilight Music present
6 mandolin duo Matt Flinner and Joe K. Walsh at Next Stage
7 Saturday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m. Known for their "mastery of the 8 mandolin and tasteful musicality," said organizers in a news
9 release, Flinner and Walsh "bring rich voices and diverse textures 10 to the acoustic and bluegrass worlds."

11                   Vermont-based multi-instrumentalist Flinner has made a 12                   career out of playing acoustic music in new ways. Starting out as 13                   a banjo prodigy who was playing bluegrass festivals before he 14                   entered his teens, he later took up the mandolin, won the 15                   National Banjo Contest at Winfield, Kansas, in 1990, and took 16                   the mandolin award there the following year. Since then, Flinner 17                   has become recognized as one of the premiere mandolinists as 18                   well as one of the finest new acoustic/roots music composers 19                   today.

20                   He has toured and recorded with a variety of bluegrass,
21                   new acoustic, classical, and jazz artists, including Tim O'Brien,
22                   Frank Vignola, Steve Martin, and Darrell Scott. His two solo CDs
23                   on Compass Records, The View from Here and Latitude are 24                   widely considered classics in the new acoustic/modern bluegrass 25                   style.

26                   Hailed by David Grisman as a “wonderful mandolin
27                   player,” and by Darol Anger as “one of the finest mandolin
28                   players ever,” Portland, Maine-based musician Walsh is best 29                   known for his collaborations and recordings with acoustic music
30                   luminaries including Anger, Brittany Haas, Molly Tuttle, and Sam 31                   Grisman, and pop-grass darlings Joy Kills Sorrow. He has 32                   performed at festivals, clubs, and theaters all over North America
33                   and Europe.

34                   Walsh currently splits his time between string band Mr
35                   Sun (with Anger, Grant Gordy, and Aidan O'Donnell), the Mike
36                   Block Trio, duo Flinner, and a trio with Ella Jordan and Jed
37                   Wilson, moving from mandolin to mandola, octave mandolin, 38                   and mandocello.

39                   An in-demand educator, Walsh is an associate professor 40                   at the Berklee College of Music, and teaches regularly at music 41                   camps and workshops across North America and Europe and 42                   online through Peghead Nation.

43                   Next Stage is at 15 Kimball Hill in downtown Putney.
44                   Tickets are $22 in advance, $25 at the door, and $10 for access to 45                   the livestream. Advance tickets are available at nextstagearts.org.

46 Next Stage will provide a beer, wine, and cocktail cash bar. For 47 information, call 802-387-0102.

48 As part of Next Stage's 15th anniversary celebration, two 49 of its founders, Eric Bass and Virginia Scholl, will be honored at 50 this event.
