4 The ninth annual "Writing to the Light Writing Circle,"
5 led by writer and educator Deborah Lee Luskin will take place in
6 person Sunday, Jan. 4, from 1 to 4 p.m. at Moore Free Library, 23
7 West St. The workshop will start promptly at 1 p.m. and end at 4
8 p.m. No registration is required.

9 At this annual fundraiser for the library, writers of all
10 kinds and all levels of experience are invited to reflect on the 11 light in their life in a supportive writing circle.

12 "We will write to illuminate our inner light, honor our 13 inner voice, and tell whatever stories rise to be told," Luskin
14 wrote in a news release. "Prompts and guidance for automatic
15 writing will be provided. Collectively, we will create a safe space
16 for those who wish to read their new words."

17 Luskin has been teaching students from all walks of life,
18 including inmates, healthcare workers, children, college students,
19 adults, and elders, for more than 40 years, and she has been
20 writing professionally even longer. She has facilitated the weekly
21 Rosefire Writing Circle since 2016.

22 Reviving Artemis, her memoir about aging fiercely, has 23 just been published by Sibylline Press. Learn more at 24 deborahleeluskin.com.

25 The workshop is free. Donations to the Moore Free
26 Library will be gratefully accepted. Donations can be sent
27 electronically at moorefreelibrary.org or by mail to 23 West St.,
28 Newfane, VT 05345.
