4 Two new Narcan dispensers are now available in 5 Brattleboro, one at Groundworks and one at Brooks Memorial 6 Library, made possible through a partnership between the AIDS
7 Project of Southern Vermont and the Community Substance Use
8 Response (CSUR).

9 The effort focuses on meeting people where they are by 10 placing lifesaving medication in accessible, familiar spaces. As 11 Library Director Starr LaTronica says, "The mission of libraries is 12 to connect people with the resources they need. We are grateful 13 to be able to provide this lifesaving resource to anyone who 14 needs it, directly inside our front door."

15 Narcan, the brand name for naloxone, is a fast-acting 16 medication that can reverse an opioid overdose by blocking the 17 effects of the drug and restoring breathing. It is safe, easy to use, 18 and effective against overdoses involving heroin, fentanyl, and 19 prescription opioids. Public-health experts emphasize that timely 20 access matters; overdoses can become fatal within minutes if 21 breathing is not restored.

22 Despite its effectiveness, stigma remains one of the 23 biggest barriers to naloxone access and use, often rooted in 24 misconceptions about substance use and who "deserves" help.

25 CDC research shows that stigma can discourage people 26 from carrying Narcan or seeking training. We hope if we 27 normalize Narcan, placing it in public spaces, offering it without 28 judgment, and treating it like any other emergency tool, we can 29 help save lives.

30 By placing dispensers in locations that serve a wide
31 range of Brattleboro residents, the AIDS Project and CSUR are 32 sending a clear message: overdose prevention is a shared 33 community responsibility, and everyone deserves the chance to 34 survive and recover.

35 Reversing an overdose is not the end of the story, it can 36 also be the beginning. Narcan gives people the chance to stay 37 alive long enough to access treatment, recovery services, and 38 support. Every reversal creates an opportunity for connection, 39 care, and a path forward.

40 With these new dispensers, APSVT and CSUR strengthen 41 their commitment with others to protect the health and dignity of 42 all community members. If you would like to learn more about 43 Narcan, harm reduction or get training, please contact CSUR at 44 CSUR802VT@gmail.com or APSVT at 802-254-4444.
