4 Brattleboro Development Credit Corporation (BDCC) will 5 host the next session of the Windham County Leadership series
6 Thursday, March 12, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Retreat Farm’s
7 North Barn, 136 Farmhouse Square.

8 The event, titled “The Blueprint for Growth: Financing
9 and Managing Local Development,” will focus on practical
10 strategies to advance housing and infrastructure in Windham

11 County through coordinated state and local action. Register at 12 bit.ly/856-housing.

13 Vermont is at a crossroads where the demand for 14 housing and modern infrastructure meet the reality of rising costs
15 and complex regulations. This session of the Windham
16 Leadership Series is designed to provide local leaders with tools 17 and an in-depth exploration of topics, including strategic 18 financing, infrastructure and policy, state alignment, the 19 municipal “playbook,” and innovative delivery. Featured panelists
20 include State Treasure Mike Pieciak; Jessica Hartleben, executive 21 director of the Vermont Economic Progress Council; Alex Farrell,
22 commissioner of the Department of Housing and Community
23 Development; Dominic Cloud, city manager of St. Albans; and 24 Miro Weinberger, executive chair of Let’s Build Homes.

25 The Windham Leadership Series brings together leaders
26 from across the region who want access to timely information 27 and clear data for meaningful cross-sector discussion about the 28 forces moving our economy. Each session features a speaker
29 who’s achieving results — someone with practical experience, 30 strong data, or insights that help the community see new 31 possibilities for Windham County. The series will support
32 practical learning and encourage participants to compare notes
33 with peers navigating similar decisions.
